Presence Of Jap Battleships
Indicates Size Of Mid-

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, June 6.—Indicating America's growing naval strength in the Pacific, advices from Honolulu disclosed today that one of the greatest and most powerful task forces used to date by the Japanese has been repulsed decisively with heavy losses in the battle of Midway Island northwest of Hawaii.

While the American victory does not necessarily mean that the Japanese may not return with another powerful force, it does indicate that the United States fleet is better able to take care of itself than it was a few months ago.

Report of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz that battleships, cruisers, carriers, destroyers and transports participated in the Midway attack left no doubt that this was one of the biggest invasion task forces used to date by the Japanese, and that undoubtedly the enemy had called into service a large portion of its grand fleet, which has not seen action so far.

Pursue Fleeing Elements
Admiral Nimitz also reported that American units were continuing the assault, indicating that fleeing elements of the Japanese force were being harried from all sides.

Naval men in Washington expressed belief that Japan may be attempting to keep Nimitz's fleet busy in the mid-Pacific while another Japanese task force strikes a blow somewhere else, possibly at American bases in the southwest Pacific, Alaska or the American mainland itself.

Use of such an impressive array of naval strength lent weight to the

Despite the war, the Cathedral auditorium was filled to the very last seat in the upper balcony.

Proud parents and relatives of the seniors, together with friends, were in attendance to witness the graduation of their own, and a more attentive audience probably never has heard Dr. Kettler speak.

Upon the intangibles and impoundables of the spirit the Grove City president based his whole message, rated by many as one of the finest commencement addresses ever heard here.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN LIBYA, June 6.—

Armored British forces have achieved success in the initial phase of a strong counter-offensive against advanced Axis units west of Knightbridge in the Libyan desert, the British high command announced today.

The Imperial forces were stated to have reached their first objective advancing behind a terrific artillery barrage.

The British counter-drive to German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's eastward push gained momentum after capture of Tamu, Axis stronghold six miles west of Knightbridge, 28 miles southwest of Tobruk.

Phase Successful
"The initial phase of the British offensive westward from Knightbridge was successful," the high command communiqué said.

"Fighting between armored forces continued throughout Friday."

Although the main British drive was launched in the northern area, Imperial mechanized units, aircraft and artillery struck against German and Italian forces at both ends of the desert battle line.

Death Toll In Elwood Blast Has Reached 51

(International News Service)
ELWOOD, Ill., June 6.—The death toll was put at fifty-one today as army authorities moved with war-time swiftness to repair, possibly within thirty days, the damage left by the biggest munitions plant explosion since America's entry into this war.

Only twenty-one bodies had been recovered early today, but army officers announced they had abandoned hope that any of the thirty men listed as "dead or missing" would be found in the wreckage alive. The blast occurred at 2:40 a. m. yesterday.

The startling estimate that the damage may be wiped out within thirty days was made by Lieut. Col. Don M. Hoffman, superintendent of the government ordnance plant, which is located near Elwood and south of Joliet.

Reports Indicate Japs Walked Into U. S. Trap At Midway

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, June 6.—

Military and naval sources today expressed the elated conviction that the huge Japanese armada attacking Midway and threatening Hawaii has definitely been repulsed in one of the most decisive coups of the war.

Their study of the conservative and guarded reports received from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz at Honolulu indicate that the enemy walked into a trap and has suffered a setback of major proportions.

Major Defeat For Japs
Finding it almost impossible to conceal their joy despite the fact that their lips have been sealed, these officials believe that not only has Japan sustained a major defeat, but that the threat to Hawaii, Alaska and the west coast as been materially lessened.

Admiral Nimitz, who is commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, made the statements in his second communiqué on the battle of Midway.

No Satisfaction Given To Hitler

Report Visit To Finland Brings No Program For Aid By Finland

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 6.—Adolf Hitler gained no satisfaction when he requested Finland to change its tactics on the Russian front from defensive engagements to offensive thrusts, dispatches from Stockholm said today.

Hitler went to Finland Thursday, ostensibly to felicitate Field Marshal Carl Gustav Mannerheim on the occasion of his 75th birthday. Germany now plans a summer attack in Russia in lieu of the spring offensive which did not materialize and was the Finns to begin a simultaneous drive, it was said.

Field Marshal Mannerheim, it was reported, promised Hitler nothing but said he would consult with Finland's military and political leaders.

Some quarters in London predicted that Washington might demand an explanation of the visit to Finnish territory by the German leader and added that the incident may possibly lead to a rupture of American diplomatic relations with Finland.

Blast Nazis Airdromes In Murmansk Area

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, June 6.—Striking fast and furiously to protect convoy routes from America and England, the Red army air force has blasted German airdromes in the Murmansk area, a Soviet communiqué announced today. At least 40 German planes were destroyed on the ground in three raids, the communiqué reported.

While the communiqué gave no further details, it was assumed that the German bases were those from which Nazi bombers and torpedo planes have been launching attacks on Russia-bound convoys. With daylight now on a 24-hour schedule in the Arctic, the menace of air attacks on convoys has sharply increased and the Red army has moved with speed and determination to wipe out the threat to her supply lines.

Heavy Attack
In another heavy attack on a German airdrome on the southwestern front the Russian air force reported destruction of 43 Nazi planes. Loss of two Soviet planes in this attack was admitted.

The midnight communiqué, reporting on the fighting of Thursday, said action was limited to local engagements and reconnaissance. Renewed activity was reported from the Karelian front opposite the Finnish border as Adolf Hitler completed his conferences with Baron Mannerheim, commander in chief of Finland's armies.

A German bomber which attempted to raid Murmansk was reported blown up in mid-air when Russian interceptor planes scored direct hits on the bomber, causing a terrific explosion.

Invasion Attempt At Midway Island Appears Definitely Beaten Off

(BULLETIN)

HONOLULU, June 6.—(Battered and pursued relentlessly by U. S. Army Navy and Marine corps bombers, a major Japanese invasion fleet today withdrew from the vicinity of Midway Island.

A number of enemy battleships, aircraft carriers, cruisers and troop-laden transports were heavily damaged, giving rise to the belief that from 8 to 12 Japanese ships were smashed in the continuing three-day battle.

By RICHARD HALLER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HONOLULU, June 6.—Heavily damaged Japanese battleships, aircraft carriers, cruisers and transports withdrew from the vicinity of Midway Island today but American bombers and fleet units kept up a relentless pursuit.

"The enemy appears to be withdrawing but we are continuing the battle," declared Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

As additional information came in about the battle which began Thursday when the Japs launched a large-scale assault against Midway, 1,149 miles northwest of Pearl Harbor, it began to appear that the enemy had sustained a defeat of major magnitude.

Admiral Nimitz's communiqué No. 2 was cautious but optimistic in tone.

Major Fleet Involved

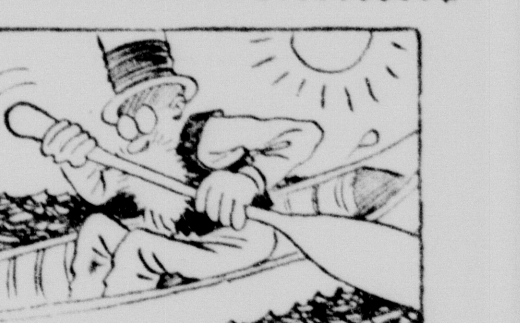

The language of the communiqué made it clear that a major Japanese battle fleet was involved and revealed for the first time that troop-laden transports were along, presumably for the purpose of occupying Midway after the attack.

This invasion attempt appeared definitely to have been beaten off. Some informed quarters in Honolulu declared that the Japs had challenge German Field Marshal Rommel's attempt to encircle the Bir Hacheim garrison.

REPORT ROMMEL LOSES HALF FRONT LINE TANK FORCE

Heavy Artillery Barrage
An overwhelming artillery barrage was directed by the British against the Axis salient guarding the gaps in the minefield area below Knightsbridge through which Rommel maintains his lines of supply to the west.

The British tank reinforcements arrived at Bir Hacheim, garrisoned by Free French forces, after Axis units which failed in a previous attempt to storm the Oasis stronghold succeeded in partially encircling the base.

Behind the Imperial artillery batteries, covering an area several miles in depth behind the line running from El Gazala to Bir Hacheim, deep rows of British tanks, including American-made "General Grant" units, awaited the signal for a forward thrust should Rommel attempt a new offensive.

Rommel's Losses Heavy

It was estimated that Rommel so far has lost half of his original front line tank strength in his futile attempt to march on the fortress of Tobruk along the Mediterranean coast. A total of 340 Nazi panzer units were said to have been knocked out.

Air Vice Marshal Arthur Coningham declared that half of the German Stuka dive-bombers in the front line fighting in the desert had been destroyed.

"Up to Friday," he said, "we have knocked down about 30 Stukas which I have reason to believe is a big proportion of the Stuka strength."

"In the last couple of days the Stukas have shown every evidence of preferring not to fight but to turn tail as soon as our Kittyhawks, Tomahawks and Hurricanes appear."

Coningham said that the Royal Air Force played a large part in relieving the Free French troops under assault at Bir Hacheim.

"Despite the lethal, anti-aircraft fire the R. A. F. diving almost to ground level and strafing the enemy enabled our troops to relieve the Free French at Bir Hacheim," he said.

According to the pamphlet "the U. S. Navy needs fighting men to man its ships and equipment with indomitable determination to 'Avenge Pearl Harbor.'" All eligible men are urged to enlist and help the Navy get to full strength so that they can wipe the Japanese from the sea.

HEAVILY DAMAGED JAPANESE FLEET IS WITHDRAWING

planned to invade one or more of the Hawaiian Islands after knocking out Midway.

American army, navy and marine corps planes, aided by a comparatively small U. S. naval force, were credited in semi-official circles with beating back the attack.

Although Admiral Nimitz said that air forces of all services had borne the brunt of the attack, it was believed unofficially that a small U. S. naval force played a part in dealing this heavy blow to Japan's sea power.

Bombers Rain Destruction
It was believed that the bombers cooperated magnificently to rain down heavy destruction on the enemy armada before U. S. naval vessels engaged the Japanese fleet.

The final score of this pursuit may not be known for several days. It was said that the size of the Japanese force, which some quarters indicate is unbelievably large, leads to the belief that the enemy planned a major offensive in the American sphere of the Pacific but was decisively repulsed.

Unofficial sources believe this large-scale engagement around Midway may be an important turning point in the whole battle of the Pacific.

After issuing his communique Admiral Nimitz verbally emphasized the fact that all service arms were participating in the assault on the Japanese, including all kinds of naval strength.

Honolulu itself is strictly on the alert for any eventuality.

Jap Armada Reeling Back
The Japanese armada was sent reeling back from its assaults on Midway with heavy airplane losses and severe damage to its warships and transport vessels, the communique said.

Although it is too early yet to claim a major Japanese disaster, Admiral Nimitz said, it can be said conservatively that the United States forces retain firm control over the Midway area.

"The enemy's damage has been very heavy. Indeed, involving several ships in each of the carrier, battleship, cruiser and transport classes," Admiral Nimitz said.

At the conclusion of his communique No. 2 he stated that "the enemy appears to be withdrawing but we are continuing the battle."

Admiral Nimitz mentioned the presence of troop transports for the first time today, indicating that the Japanese probably hoped to attempt to land forces to hold the island of Midway, 1,149 miles northwest of Honolulu.

Although Admiral Nimitz retained reserve in announcing that the Japanese forces had been thwarted all indications were that the enemy armada had been decisively repulsed in the greatest air and naval action in the American defense sphere.

The commander-in-chief revealed that American air forces, composed of army, navy and marine corps personnel had borne the brunt of the defense of Midway so far.

He revealed that counter-action by the defenders so overwhelmed the Japanese that they failed to follow up their initial air attack on Midway early Thursday.

See Delay In Gas Rationing Plans

Announcement Is Deferred Until "Nearish Future" By Administration

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Violent opposition in congressional circles today appeared to have gained a few days "breathing spell" for the opponents of nation-wide rationing of gasoline.

With a bi-partisan group of 100 congressmen banded together against the proposal, President Roosevelt and his top war advisers deferred until the "nearish future" any announcement on the program to conserve the tires of the country's 33,000,000 passenger cars.

The Chief Executive said he would call in the leaders of Capitol Hill to discuss the issue with them.

After a 40-minute conference between Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers, Archibald MacLeish, director of the office of facts and figures, and one of the conferees announced merely that a statement would follow "in a matter of days."

While the "go sign" on rationing did not come forth from the White House meeting, the conferees reportedly did agree to proceed with an intensified country-wide campaign to collect scrap rubber. This is one of the steps advocated strongly in Congress.

very heavy, indeed, involving several ships in each of the carrier, battleship, cruiser and transport classes.

U. S. Keeps Control
While it is too early to claim a major Japanese disaster it may be conservatively stated that United States control remains firm in the Midway area. The enemy appears to be withdrawing but we are continuing the battle."

Considered significant was a sentence in the communique in which Admiral Nimitz stated that "it appears that the enemy's damage has been very heavy indeed, involving several ships in each of the carrier, battleship, cruiser and transport classes."

This was interpreted in Washington to mean that a minimum of eight and possibly as many as 12 warships and transports were badly damaged in the engagement.

It was considered possible that if the damage inflicted was great enough many of the crippled enemy ships may never be able to return to their bases in the Marshall and Caroline Islands, hundreds of miles southwest of the scene of the engagement.

It also was pointed out that any damaged ship would slow down the main Japanese armada and that long-range U. S. bombers could search out the force and inflict further damage.

theory that the Nipponese assault was not a "hit-and-run" affair. It marked the first time since early in the Philippine campaign that the Japs have turned loose such a striking force.

It was recalled in that operation the Japanese sent in a couple of battleships but they were older types, one of which was sunk while the other was badly damaged by American bombing planes.

May Seek Showdown
Reappearance of the slow but powerful warships in the task force at Midway indicated also that the enemy may be seeking a "show-down" fight with the Pacific fleet, preparatory to a possible second assault upon Pearl Harbor, 1149 miles southeast of Midway.

The last time a Japanese task force attempted to lead an invasion armada north of Australia, units of the American Pacific fleet intercepted it in the Coral Sea and sent it reeling after sinking and damaging more than 20 warships and other vessels.

Experts on sea warfare asserted, too, that Japan may be seeking to knock out American bases and fleet units before the United States has a chance to build up its naval strength with new warships which are being completed under the original two-ocean navy program.

It is known that Hawaii's defenses have been strengthened considerably since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor just six months ago tomorrow, and the Nipponese are certain Hawaii will play an important part in America's promised offensive against them.

If his conscience can't approve war and he believes in doing good where he can do more than at the battlefield, caring for the wounded?

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

KNOW CHILDREN'S SCHOOL.
MOST OF US parents know very little about our children's school. This is absurd when their future rests so heavily upon their school success.

As a matter of fact, the more we know about our children's school the more we are able to do to help them get along in their studies and the more also do we receive in return for the taxes which we pay for public education.

What most parents know about their children's school they pick up from the remarks dropped by their boys and girls at home. Children are human. They, therefore, are likely to talk about the things at school which annoy them, the things they don't like. They take for granted the good things. So do we.

For you and me to spend half a day in the classroom of our children in the second or fifth or eighth grade is to get a liberal education.

New Methods

We may be surprised at what we see and hear. There is not the military atmosphere in this school to which we might have been exposed when we were pupils in the grades. There is little time spent on enforcing strict discipline. The teacher does not use her time in trying to detect and correct mischievous makers. Instead, she may not be heard to say a thing about conduct. The children do most of the talking and working while she, like a master engineer, quietly moves among the pupils helping a little here, offering a suggestion there, answering more questions than she asks.

Not all the students are doing the same thing. Numerous projects and activities are under way. There may be several groups of children working together on whose faces signs of enjoyment are apparent.

Happier Evenings At Home

At home in the evening you may see your own children and several of the neighbors' carrying on some of the things they have begun at school, particularly the younger children. Other things begun at home may be continued next day at school. We parents little realize how much the best modern school has been doing to add to the happiness of children's evening home hours. It will do them and us a great deal of good if we make ourselves acquainted with these high spots of our schools.

A graded list of books for the child from six to 12 to read may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th St., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. How soon would you take a child to the public library?
A. As soon as he can toddle and enjoy listening to rhymes and stories. (Continued On Page Five)

The World and the Mud Puddles

SLAVERY OR NO

Not since ancient times when warring tribes uncited their vanquished opponents and carried them off into captivity, has Europe witnessed the organized slavery which is now being carried out on a grand scale.

The "New Order" makes no apologies for this state of affairs. The removal of hundreds of thousands of persons—mostly those too young or too old to fight—from their homelands, the breaking up of families, the establishment of forced labor, are part of the permanent scheme of things as Nazism sees it. Since all other races or nations are regarded as inferior in rank, peopled by creatures with no more claim to respect or justice than cattle, it is but logical to find the Hitler hierarchy exploiting non-German Europe with cold-blooded thoroughness.

Today in Germany there are 1,100,000 Poles and 250,000 Belgians serving what uses to which their Nazi masters have put them. Hitler's dupe, Mussolini, has delivered up 300,000 Italian men and women into German hands, with another 1,000,000 promised for the near future. The Berlin radio is now boasting that no fewer than four million non-German will soon be toiling in German fields and factories under their Prussian task masters.

Slavery in Europe in 1942 is no figure of speech, but a fact. Until the slaveholders' power is crushed in Europe and Asia, the menace to the free nations remains. We can neither trade nor live with a world half slave. This the champions of the "New Order" admit. They agree the world must be fashioned after their pattern or our own. We have accepted their challenge and will fight until victory is ours.

Bible Thought For Today

Every second of every day from the beginning of human history God has been doing wonderful things among his people. Get near to him and he will do marvelous things for you. God is still ruler of this world. Therefore behold I will proceed to do a marvelous work, among this people, even a marvelous work and a wonder.—Isaiah 29:14.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:25. Sun rises tomorrow 5:31.

If the United States gets after Hitler in the right way he will not last long. A few good bumps and he will be gone!

"Madder than a wet hen" is an old familiar simile. But has anybody ever analyzed it? We have never run across anybody competent to tell how mad a wet hen could be.

When people are interested in a good cause enough to spend their money on it they are sincere.

"Know thyself," said the early philosophers. Then, it might be added, the least said about it the better.

Men seem to be getting along all right without cuffs on their pants. Many are satisfied just to have pants.

A CONCISE ABSCONDER
"Can you give me a good description of your absconding cashier?" snarled the detective.

"Well," answered the hotel proprietor, "I believe he's about five feet five inches tall and about seven thousand dollars short."

For those who believe that conditions change but people's understanding and reactions remain the same here is a piece that was considered both clever and brilliant 40 years ago... written by an unknown but inspired column writer.

"A girl shows her raisin when she makes a date with a prune for whom she doesn't care a fig. She may be a peach, but they make a funny pear. She may be the apple of his eye, but she hands him a lemon, although she may have a cherry disposition. It is plain wrong and if her name be Anna, he ought to ban Anna. By this time, he would realize that his efforts had been fruitless."

QUICK STUDY
Employer to learn office boy: "Can you learn quickly the duties of your position?"

N. O. B. proudly: "Yes, sir! I had five positions this month and I learned the duties of every one of them."

He: "What are my chances with you?"
She: "Two to one. There's you and me against my conscience."

It isn't as if the people of this country are not used to making sacrifices. Millions of them have been doing it for years that they might have automobiles.

The remarkable thing about the ordinary jealous wife is her low opinion of other women's taste.

They were sitting on the porch in the moonlight. No words broke the stillness. She began to yawn.

"I say," she said suddenly, "suppose you had money, what would you do?"

"If I had money," he said with enthusiasm, "I'd travel."

He felt her small hand in his. He closed his eyes and sighed happily. When he looked up again she had gone.

In his hand lay a five-cent piece.

Grandpa tells of people who have stopped off at his place inquiring about the price of horses. "They say they want tireless ones, too," quips grandpa.

"I hope you enjoyed your game with the major," said the hostess to one of her guests. "He's very clever at cards, isn't he?" "He certainly is," replied the guest. "He started by telling my fortune, and now he's counting it."

There comes a time when it is better to produce than boast of our producing capacity.

From the looks of things, it seems a lot of birds are talking about gasoline who don't know much about it. Don't forget lack of tires will make you forget gasoline.

A SHILLING COMPROMISE
Employer (sternly): There are two shillings missing from my desk, and only you and I have a key. What about it?"

Office Boy: "Well, sir, let's pay a shilling each and say nothing about it."

If you have a man in your employ who is a thinker, then see to it that he has a given amount of time each day to do some thinking for your business. Pass on the mechanical details of your business to people whose time is not as valuable as your own or as valuable as that of the thinkers and planners in your business.

HEAD USHER AT WEDDING
"What is meant by a head usher at a wedding, and what are his duties?"

Answer: Generally, there is no distinction in the ushers, but in some communities a bridegroom appoints an intimate friend as his head usher—he being the one who escorts the bride's mother up the aisle and is designated to see that all necessary details are carried out—such duties being the distribution of the ushers' boutonnières, seeing that the other ushers make a prompt and proper appearance. He must organize the ushers into a division of duties—appointing one to escort the groom's mother, another to warn the groom and best man of the bride's approach, etc.

Precautions Now May Avert Headaches
Resentment Is Felt At Thinking Ones
Believe We Should Concentrate On War

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Resentment is developing very formidably against folk who mention certain precautions that ought, they think, to be taken right now, to prevent an awful economic state of affairs before many years after the war's over.

The argument is that licking the Axis is the thing for us to concentrate on today, to the absolute exclusion of any other present or future consideration. We must not even waste a thought in an alternative direction, the critics say—at best it's frivolous and at worst it's disloyal. Who cares, they ask, what else happens to us later, if we waste the daylight out of that Axis in the shortest order possible?

Well, there's a lot to be said in favor of making a jigsaw job of it. The longer it takes, the meaner the subsequent situation will be—the one the economists worry about.

It won't pay this latter group to let the conflict string out with a curse of some of the cure off it when it gets here, because it probably'll be still uglier if it's delayed.

A Bit Of Foresight

Nevertheless, it seems to me that there's nothing unpatriotic in exercising a modicum of foresight.

A guy who needs to have a few germs of judgment on the subject should have been on earth enough years to have had a bit of experience with the 1914-18 war. He's aware that various steps could have been taken then to avert the fearful business crash that followed it. The current younger generations are too juvenile to have sensed it. They were little kids, while their seniors were ransacking with post-war bankruptcy. The oldsters are the chaps who remember it. They're not yet old enough to be all dead, but they're old enough to recall what happened to 'em, and WHY it happened to 'em, and not to want to have it happen to 'em again, if they can help it.

Inflation! That's what they're all jittery about.

The rampant birds don't want to be inflated, theoretically, but they never had it actually happen to 'em. The elderly class have been through it, and one dose of it was sufficient for 'em. The young crowd merely has it EXPLAINED to 'em.

President John A. Reilly of the Second National Bank of Washington made a speech on the subject not long ago before the eastern regional conference of the National Bank Auditors and Comptrollers Association in Philadelphia, warning of a tragedy ahead "that may threaten our civilization."

According to Banker Reilly, "We're on the threshold of a major historic transformation that can't stop with the end of hostilities. Unification's going to do it."

And childhood's right to play!

Some scholar, seeking truth, shall turn

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

(International News Service Staff Writer)

A farmer in California has petitioned the WPB for priority on a bathtub.

He says conversations with his fiancée have bogged down on plumbing and there won't be any marriage pact unless he can work up a lather.

He says he can produce twice as many eggs for defense if he has a wife.

But he can't get the wife unless the tub comes first.

He is willing to forego pleasure and baths for business purposes only.

The constitution gives every man the right to bear arms but he's on his own when it comes to washing them.

And the government has frozen bathtubs.

So the farmer is stuck unless he can pick up a hot white tub in the so-called weaker sex.

Thought for the day: WPB freezes romance.

Tires And The Truth

WASHINGTON, June 6.

THE AMERICAN people have considerable justification for being indignant over the conflicting and confusing governmental publicity concerning tires and gasoline. About these things they have been subjected to an experience well calculated to undermine confidence and promote discontent.

OFFSETTING the President's recent optimistic remarks on rubber were the strong, though largely suppressed, pessimistic convictions of the various officials charged with responsibility either for rationing gasoline or the production of rubber. Naturally, none of these was going to say that Mr. Roosevelt talked loosely and too much, but certainly some of them thought so. Beyond question, his optimism was misleading and the facts bear out the darker view. To some extent, the President—unintentionally, of course—has impeded the program and prevented a clear grasp of the realities.

BECAUSE OF THIS, it seems worth while to present the views of those who know most about the situation and have most to do with handling it. The basic fact, upon which there is no governmental disagreement, though there still exists a popular lack of understanding, is that the shortage is in rubber, in gasoline. There is plenty of gasoline everywhere except in the East and there it is a question of transportation, not lack of supply. Nevertheless, sometime after July 1 gas rationing will be extended to the whole country, not to save gas but to save rubber.

THE FACTS ABOUT rubber can be simply stated. First, even allowing for importations from South America and the synthetic rubber produced here, there is nothing like enough rubber on hand or in sight for war purposes. This is true, even if war requirements were supposed to be twenty-five per cent, which is not to be thought of. Quite clearly, then, the civilian population is going to have to go without rubber. Despite the President's optimism there is no prospect of tires for civilian purposes for an indefinite period—probably two years or more. That fact ought to be accepted.

(International News Service)

LONDON.—The Earle of Selborne, minister of economic warfare discusses possible peace terms: "Britain will never propose a peace of revenge. Individuals guilty of atrocities must and will be punished. That is not revenge. That is justice."

WASHINGTON.—Kwong, spokesman for the Chinese embassy urges ruthlessness: "If by any chance, enemy bombers should drop these bombs, unload their bombs, and then parachute to safety, don't intern them in some nice place like Hot Springs. Shoot every damn one of them!"

CHICAGO.—Supreme Court Justice James F. Byrnes warns against persecuting granting dictatorial power to a president even in war time. "The whole of the great human struggle for freedom can be summed up as a fight for representation in the supreme legislative councils."

NEW YORK.—Dr. George N. Shuster, president of Hunter college, opposes granting dictatorial power to a president even in war time. "The whole of the great human struggle for freedom can be summed up as a fight for representation in the supreme legislative councils."

HAPPYGRAMS

By ERICH BRANDEIS

In a divorce suit in a White Plains, N. Y., court, the judge declared a mistrial because the foreman of the jury had made (and kept) a date with the pretty defendant while the case was pending.

The lady in the case kept the date, but notified her attorney, who hid in the back seat of her car.

When the appropriate moment came, the lawyer popped up—and the date was over.

The next morning the judge was notified and, after a most effective bawling out, he told the juror that he would never be permitted to serve on a jury again.

Jurors should remember that if a pretty blonde (or brunette) smiles at them, it is usually not their personal charm, but their verdict that makes them so attractive to the so-called weaker sex.

A deadlier knockout blow can be struck by a woman's smile than a man's fist!

JAPANESE IMPOTENCE

ATTACKS upon Dutch Harbor by the Japanese did not cause even a ripple of excitement in the United States, in direct contrast to the scenes of utter hysteria that prevailed for days in Tokyo following the attack upon that city by American bomber planes several weeks ago.

The American calm in the wake of this first bombing raid ever made on North American soil is based on the solid foundation of confidence to meet anything the Japs can bring. The entire west coast has been cleared of Japanese aliens and intensive preparations have been made to repel land, sea or air attacks by the brown barbarians.

This is the great difference between Americans and Japanese, between civilized and barbarous peoples. Americans know the danger and do not flinch from it, as soon as minor retribution overtakes the simple-minded Japs they are terror-stricken.

Anything the Japs can bring over will be regarded by Americans as a nuisance, large or small, but only a nuisance. The people of this country know that brash Jap units that succeed in getting to these shores will be taken care of either on the spot or in due time, and that as the nation's war preparations proceed the day is drawing steadily nearer when the tide of war in the Pacific will take a definite turn and Japan will be placed on the defensive.

When that day arrives, when Tokyo and other large cities of Japan are subjected to bombing raids at regular intervals, though they be infinitesimal in size compared to the raids that have razed German cities, the scenes of woe and dismay and hysteria that will sweep Hirohito's land will be evidence of the real character of the rats known as Japanese.

RECLAIMING RUBBER

Some of the developments around the question of rubber supply have to do with the reclamation of rubber from a reserve of used rubber commonly called "the scrap heap."

It is claimed in some circles that there are 10,000,000 tons of such rubber available in the United States and a program

Graduation Party

Miss Josephine DeMase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam DeMase, of Agnew street, who graduated from the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, of the suspension of hot mill operations in the Shenango tin plate plant here, Effective June 13. The tinning department will continue to operate, coating such tonnage of black plate from the Irvin plant as the current monthly tin allotment will permit.

Major reasons for the discontinuance is the fact that capture of the Malayan States by the Japanese forces has shut off the major source of supply of tin bar.

Company Statement

Announcements posted at the plant are as follows:

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation regrets to announce that circumstances beyond its control resulting from the war emergency will make it necessary to discontinue operations at Shenango Works.

"These operations to date have only been possible because of the pressing need for supplying both this country and the allied nations with plate for seasonal food packaging. With these needs satisfied to a large measure and because of the extremely heavy demands for other classes of steel for the prosecution of the war, the use of steel for the production of black and tin plate is being sharply restricted by orders from the War Production Board.

Moreover, the supply of tin for the United States has been seriously and drastically curtailed by the war. These conditions prevent the full use of the company's black and tin plate producing facilities.

"To meet the future emergency requirements of the country for the maximum amount of tin plate, taking into consideration the limited supply of available tin, electrolytic tinning lines capable of producing more than double the amount of tin plate per pound of tin procurable by hot dipped coating methods, and also lines for the chemical treatment of black plate, are being installed throughout the industry at plants producing the cold reduced cold strip necessary for these processes.

The hot mills at Shenango Works will discontinue operations effective June 13, and black pickling, annealing and cold rolling departments in order as they complete processing of the final hot rolled production. The tinning department will continue to operate, coating such tonnage of black plate from Irvin as current monthly tin allotment will permit.

"The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation will exert every effort toward locating Shenango employees who are or may be qualified for employment at its other plants with the least possible delay, and although no facts can now be stated concerning such transfers, plans are being developed to bring this about to the greatest possible degree."

U. S. Bombers Hit Rangoon
Raid Is Made On Japanese Held Port—Battle Enemy Planes

(International News Service)
NEW DELHI, June 6.—American heavy bombers again raided Rangoon in Japanese-held Burma on Thursday night, United States Army headquarters in New Delhi announced today. Docks and ships in the harbor were attacked, a communiqué stated. Thick weather prevented observation of damage.

Twelve Japanese fighters attacked the American bombers over the southern Burma Port. Two Japanese planes were shot down and a third was probably destroyed, the communiqué stated. One American bomber failed to return to its base.

It was disclosed that some of the American-made Kittyhawk fighters which reached India in the gigantic British convoy which arrived early in May, had gone into action. Giant American tanks, which made up part of the convoy's load have also been disposed among the defense units guarding India against Japanese invasion.

It was authoritatively reported that this mechanized equipment had given the defenders a balance of power. Thousands of troops filled many of the great liners which were in the convoy, it was said.

These reinforcements included infantry, artillery units, mechanized troops and shock troops.

The size of the convoy was indicated by the announcement that the ships could not be accommodated at any single Indian Port and the convoy split up after reaching India and docked at several different ports.

Record Senior High Class Is Given Diplomas

These intangibles in living—in wartime and in peacetime—and, toward the close of his discourse said:

"Members of the June class, I know that if you have these intangibles, and if you are older reflect them in your living, too, this dark night which is now upon us will soon be over, and the dawn of a better day will be before us."

Urges Courage
Dr. Ketter urged them to have courage and to employ understanding, and he left three mottoes—he offered them as mottoes—for the seniors to adopt.

"Let 'em all come" was the first, "Manners maketh man" the second and "Struggle to make the world better" was the third.

Each he discussed for a short time, but he suggested that the 445 graduates could well adopt either one for his motto in life.

He referred to Napoleon's estimate of morale in battle, and quoted General George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and General Ben Lear, one of his distinguished commanders, as saying that it will be primarily the spirit of man which will bring us victory and not fighting equipment.

Robert E. Lee, said Dr. Ketter, "Failed to measure the importance of spirit of the great Lincoln in the Civil War, and lost." He reminded that a great English statesman once said the impregnability of a nation lies not in equipment, but in its courage, loyalty, integrity and energy.

Introduced by Superintendent of Schools, C. C. Green, who soon retired, Dr. Ketter said that for more reasons than one was he happy to be participating in the program, for he regarded it "the commencement exercises" for two of his best friends, Dr. Green and Principal Frank L. Orth. Both Dr. Green and Mr. Orth retired July 1.

Dr. Ketter praised Dr. Green for his "long and outstanding service as an educational leader throughout this area and the commonwealth," and he said Mr. Orth's "fine standards and high ideals will have an influence not bounded by the city or county lines."

Attisano Presides
The class president, Larry Attisano, of West Pittsburg, presided. After the class members marched to their main-floor reserved section, Rev. Fr. Peter M. Schirra of St. Joseph's church offered the invocation.

Then came one of two musical features, a piano solo by Lenore Pyle, outstanding senior musician. She played "Second Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt.

Dr. Ketter then delivered his address, and immediately following Lenore Pyle, another senior musician, sang two solos accompanied by Edwin Lewis. He sang "I Heard a Lady Sing" by Hardin Church and "God Touched the Rose" by Mary Helen Brown.

Presentation of seven commencement honor awards then took place, with business, civic and patriotic groups offering cash prizes and plaques.

Superintendent Green went to the front of the platform when all the prizes had been distributed and began what for him was his farewell commendation message.

He paid tribute to the seniors who were about to get diplomas, and he praised the parents and those who have taught the graduates.

They, though, hoping to leave on the minds of the seniors something which he said his own college commencement speaker had left on his years ago, Dr. Green offered one sentence spoken by that speaker—none other than Dr. Isaac C. Ketter, founder and first president at Grove City and father of Dr. Weir C. Ketter.

The simple sentence of the elder Dr. Ketter, Dr. Green said, was "He seldom fails who plans to succeed." He urged them not to forget it.

After Dr. Green concluded his remarks, Griffith Thomas, vice president of the board of education, congratulated the class and the parents, and then handed out diplomas. The class filed out of the auditorium, around the west hall and across the stage to receive the certificates.

Grass Land Field Day Takes Place

Farmers From Two States Inspect Model Grass Farm In North Beaver

SEE EFFECTS OF GOOD FERTILIZER

Farmers from Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio gathered at the farm of Floyd W. Byers and Sons in North Beaver township, Lawrence county, on June 4 to observe and study the legume and grass production program on the Byers farm.

The original tract of land taken over by Mr. Byers 12 years ago consisted of only 28 acres. This being too small a piece of land for a complete unit, Mr. Byers spent some time during the first half of those 19 years working in industry and on milk routes. Two additional tracts of land have been purchased so the farm now consists of 83 acres.

The Byers' ambition was to have a good dairy and poultry farm. Additions were made to the small farm on the original tract to care for more cows and poultry. This improved structure was destroyed by fire in 1935. Following that loss, a new barn and new poultry houses were built.

The livestock kept on the farm now consists of 38 milking Jersey cows along with the necessary young stock for herd replacements and a flock of 800 laying hens. Records of the Lawrence County Dairy Herd Improvement association show that this herd produced an average of 7,698 pounds of milk and 373.6 pounds of butter fat per cow last year.

In order to produce the roughage necessary for maintaining the livestock on the farm, high yields per acre are essential. The growing of legumes and the improving of pastures has for a number of years been an important factor in Mr. Byers' farm management program. There are three silos on the farm, one of which is filled with legume silage each year.

So there would be more tonnage of grass and legumes available this spring, one field was seeded last August to the Pennsylvania triple purpose mixture. This field has been in hay for several years, but the alfalfa was disappearing. It was plowed in August of 1941 and a seed bed prepared. The field was limed as needed and 500 pounds of 4-16-4 fertilizer was applied per acre.

The seed mixture used on this field last fall was:

Orchard grass, 6 pounds per acre; tall fescue, 4 pounds per acre; timothy, 3 pounds per acre; perennial ryegrass, 5 pounds per acre; alfalfa, 8 pounds per acre; red clover, 3 pounds per acre; Ladino clover, 2 pounds per acre.

Checks weights taken on June 4 showed this field to be yielding 11½ tons of green material per acre. Successive cuttings from this field each year may be used for hay or the field can be pastured as the occasion demands.

Alfalfa, clover, timothy mixtures have been the regular seedings on the farm for hay and silage purposes. The seeding on one field was changed in 1941 to include the following:

Alfalfa, 15 pounds per acre; red clover, 5 pounds per acre; timothy, 5 pounds per acre; Ladino clover, 1 pound per acre.

Although it is not a recommended practice, this material made such a growth that a small cutting of hay was made from this field in the fall of 1941. Checks made on June 4 showed a yield of 9½ tons of green material per acre on this field. On a dry basis this would make approximately 2½ tons of hay per acre on the first cutting. Similar mixtures usually analyze about 15 to 16 per cent protein.

Mr. Byers follows the school of thought which believes the cheapest feed produced on the farm is that which comes from the pasture. Pasture improvement, then, has been a part of the Byers' program for several years. There is a total of 20 acres of improved pasture on the farm. Fourteen acres of this is bluegrass. This field was seeded to permanent pasture in 1936. It was limed and fertilized at that time. There has been a light top dressing of manure applied every year since.

In addition to the manure, there have been two top dressings of 0-20-20 since 1936. There may be a question whether the high potash content of the fertilizer was essential, but certainly it did no harm. Clippings from this pasture this year show a yield of 6.4 tons green feed per acre up until June 2.

The second pasture field on the farm is a six acre field for young stock. Prior to 1939, this was an abandoned field growing up with weeds. In 1939 the field was plowed. Three tons of lime and 200 pounds of 4-16-4 fertilizer was applied per acre. It was seeded to wheat and top dressed with manure that winter. The wheat yielded 30 bushels per acre.

The pasture mixture was seeded on the wheat in the spring of 1940. This included:

Kentucky blue grass, 7 pounds per acre; timothy, 3 pounds per acre; red clover, 4 pounds per acre; Ladino clover, 1 pound per acre.

In the fall of 1940 the field was top dressed with manure and in the spring of 1941, 200 pounds of 0-14-6 fertilizer were applied per acre. There were 12 head of heifers on this field continuously from May to October 1941. On April 28 of this spring, 13 heifers were turned into the field. The per acre yield of green feed this year was 6.9 tons up to June 2.

The success of grass and legume seedings on the Byers' farm can be attributed to the use of ample amounts of lime and fertilizer and a thorough preparation of the seed bed. All seedling is done with a disc grass and legume seeder. This insures ample and quick covering of the seeds. Most seedlings have been made on wheat.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The war has cut off many important medicinal plants.

Belladonna is produced from the deadly nightshade plant.

We imported 200,000 pounds annually from the Balkans.

An attempt is being made to grow nightshade in this country.

The cinchona bark originally came from South America.

Of late, we have imported most of it from China.

We will look to South America again for this valuable bark.

Chamomile, a stomach tonic, also comes from Latin America.

The gum tragacanth came from Persia, resin benzoin from Asia.

Many medicinal plants can be grown in the United States.

Labor costs in gathering them will no doubt raise their prices.

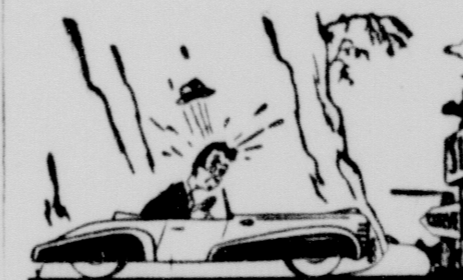

The Indians found 1,000 medicinal plants here, so can we.

Slovaks Capture USO Contest, 6-1

Slim Crowd Witnesses Benefit Attraction On Marshall Field, Friday

Spearheaded by Shaballa, who cracked out two hits, the powerful Slovaks emerged triumphant in the City Baseball league United Service Organizations benefit game played on Marshall field Friday night.

Playing before more than 300 spectators, the Slovaks trounced the Elder A. C., 6-1.

The winners scammed plateward once in the second and third. A ducce in the fifth and sixth completed the Slovak scoring. The Elders averted a shut out by tallying in the seventh.

Anderson, Gonet and Jonoski divided the pitching assignment for the winners, the trio holding the foe to five hits. Witherow gave up 11 swats.

Sgt. Paul Coulter, home on furlough, caught for the Elders. Besides an excellent performance on the field, Coulter connected twice for singles.

Prior to the start of the game, Attorney Joe Solomon, secretary of the USO drive here, tossed out the first ball and Fire Chief James E. Thomas was on the receiving end. Walter Ringer and Len Gilbert capably handled the announcing role.

General Chairman Michael Donovan today stated that, despite a slim turnout, the project will net the USO a substantial sum. The advance sale was imposing. The complete report will be published Monday.

Last night's game will not be included in the City Baseball league standing, being listed as an exhibition.

City League Teams Resume Hostilities Sunday Afternoon

West Pittsburg At Moose; Slovaks-Croton Dual On Cascade Field

Sideline by the Navy Week All-Star clash and the USO benefit, City Baseball league rivals roll up their sleeves to continue the stubborn first half battle Sunday afternoon.

Tomorrow's round, all three o'clock games, pairs:

Elders vs. Lawrence Indies, Cedar street grounds.

Bessemer at West Side Tigers, Lee avenue field.

West Pittsburg at Moose, Marshall field Scott street.

Slovaks at Croton, Croton field, Cascade field.

The league leading Croton (5-2) club jeopardizes its position in meeting an exceptionally well balanced Slovak team. The Slovaks (4-3) soar near the top and into a tie for the lead, provided they win while West Pittsburg loses.

The red-hot West Pittsburg "Gas-house Gang" travels to the Moose 4-6 Marshall field. The Fundoots brigade (7-4) will scamper across the field confident of nailing the important win.

The Elders, still a predominant figure in the title chase, face a stiff Lawrence Indies nine on Cedar street grounds. The rivals sport a won 4 and lost 4 mark.

West Side Tigers, comfortably lodged in last place, entertain Bessemer on Lee avenue field. Bessemer has a 4-5 record compared to a 3-7 standing for the Tigers.

Loop teams, with the exception of West Pittsburg, will be a busy lot next week. Most of the postponed games which have been piled up during the past several weeks are billed for the coming six days.

Ky Laffoon Leads Sectional Golfers In Chicago Round
(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 6.—Burly Ky Laffoon today led the field of 72 professionals and amateurs by one stroke as they entered the final 18-holes of the 54-hole sectional qualifying round for the Hale America open golf tournament.

Laffoon, a free-lance professional from Miami, Okla., fashioned a 36-hole total of 143, one over par, after needing a subpar 70 in the morning session and adding a 73 for his afternoon performance.

Brownies Gain 16-Inning Win; Buccos Triumph

Fowler, Athletic Twirler, Victim Of Marathon Clash; Red Sox, Giants Ahead

YANKS PAD LEAD; TRIP INDIANS, 6-3

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 6.—The most bewildered rookie in baseball today was young Dick Fowler. The crane-legged, Philadelphia fire-baller pitched a brilliant 16-inning game against the Browns last night only to see his masterly efforts go in vain when Walter Judnich slashed a triple in the fatal frame and scored on Chet Laabs' line drive to center. Fowler pitched his heart out, outlasted Johnny Niggleling, but his mates couldn't produce a run. George Caster relieved Niggleling on the mound for the Browns in the 13th and received credit for the marathon triumph.

It is hardly news any longer in the American league but the New York Yankees increased their lead yesterday. They beat the second-place Cleveland Indians, 6 to 3, in 12 games ahead. Lefty Gomez received credit for his second win but had to leave the contest at the end of the fourth inning after being hit on the left knee cap by a line drive off Lou Boudreau's bat in the third. Marvin Breuer took over and held the Tribe to one run from there in. Joe Gordon ran his hitting streak to 21 games and Buddy Hassett increased his to 16 engagements.

A base on balls with the bases jammed in the tenth gave Washington a 3 to 2 nod over Detroit. Hal White, Tribe rookie, was hurling at the time. Buck Newsum went the distance for the Senators.

Yank Terry Tossed eight-hit ball to enable Boston to whip the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2. The Pale Hose threatened in the ninth when Sam West and Mike Tresh singled after two were out. Mace Brown came in to subdue the uprising, returning pinch hitter George Dickery.

Medwick Showed
In the National league, Ducky Medwick was showered with fruit in the first game of a doubleheader won by his Brooklyn mates from Chicago by a 6 to 3 margin. The Cubs won the second tilt, 4 to 3, in 10 innings. The fruit shower for Medwick came in the second inning when the fans thought Ducky had trapped a line smash by Lou Novikoff while the umpire ruled it a fair catch. Ducky tossed a mato back into his irate audience but his aim brought no bonus for accuracy.

Johnny Vander Meer pitched Cincinnati to a 3 to 2 victory over the Boston Braves in the opening game of a double bill and Ray Starr followed with a 6 to 1 triumph for the Reds in the nightcap.

The New York Giants whipped the St. Louis Cardinals by a 3 to 1 margin with rookie Dave Koslo pitching four-hit ball for his third victory. Max Lanier was handed his third loss.

After losing 10 straight, the Pittsburgh Pirates finally won a verdict but it took five Philadelphia errors to make possible the feat. The score was 6 to 5. Take away those Phil miscues and you get the idea.

CHATting WITH THREE PI-RATES

"Everything we've been doing has been wrong and Lady Luck has been looking the other way. Breaks mean a lot in the major leagues." This was the comment offered by Frank Frisch in the Duca Delgi Abuzzi hall when someone asked if there was an explanation for the Pirates' tall spin.

Continuing, the Fordham Flash, as good natured as a mother, said "The ball club doesn't rate seventh place. We will come punching back remember that. We'll win a lot of games."

Yes, we'll pull out of this slump.

How does it feel to manage a club that collapses like a brick building? "For one thing, you take a lot of ribbing," Frisch said smilingly. "A lot of people and they all mean well, offer all kinds of suggestions and remedies. I don't like such a slump because I like to win too much. I have my fingers crossed, hoping for the ray of sunshine to beam on my team."

Pomona Grange Has Sessions

Members Are Guests Of Liberty Grange Quarterly Meeting

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED

Lawrence County Pomona Grange members were guests of Liberty Grange for the quarterly meeting, which took place on Wednesday, with sessions in the morning and afternoon.

With Pomona Master W. H. McCullough presiding, the business session took place during the morning, and reports were heard from the officers, and subordinate and juvenile granges. They were welcomed by Clifford Martin, master of the host grange, and the response was given by Dale Currie.

Mrs. J. Francis Book was elected lecturer filling the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mrs. Willard Bowden.

Resolutions presented by the resolutions committee and adopted included a recommendation for the adoption of the Shepherd Bill by Congress. It was a consensus of opinion that the best interests of all citizens would be served by the suspension of the C.C.C., the N.Y.A., and the A.A.A. and the liquidation of the funds of these groups. The grange also went on record as favoring the retention of the present rationing system instead of paid rationing boards as proposed.

The grange also went on record as opposed to the use of the Sabbath Day for Class Day or commencement exercises at State College.

The lecturers conference will take place at State College, June 16-18. At the afternoon sessions, Dr. E. Preston Sharp, former Lawrence county teacher and at present superintendent of Morgantown, spoke on the subject of "Crime and Youth."

The memorial service was conducted by Pomona Chaplain, J. Audley Book. The soloist for the service was Marian Thompson. Flowers were placed on the altar in memory of the deceased members. Rev. Anderson, of New Bedford, gave the memorial address.

At the evening session, W. B. Wallace spoke on "The Story of Steel." The remainder of the evening was in charge of the young people, when the following program was rendered: Quartet—Geraldine, Wanda, Thomas and Charles McCullough.

Oration, "Patriotism"—Leora Harlan.

Reading, "Husbands and Wives"—Lillian Martin.

Reading, "A Faithful Heart"—Wilda Fullerton-Betty Baird.

Sentiment Is Helped By Reports Of U. S. Naval Victory

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 6.—The stock market today made it four straight on the upside, although profit-taking was noted in some recent leaders. Trading was light.

Sentiment was helped by reports of a U. S. naval victory around Midway Island.

The industrial average was retarded by profit-taking in chemicals. Du Pont lost more than a point and Allied almost as much. Bonds displayed a firm undertone, with some second-grade rail issues recording modest gains. U. S. Governments were dull.

Steels again were prominent on the upside. Bethlehem and U. S. Steel each climbed about a point at their peaks.

West Penn Electric issues again featured in the utility section. The "A" stock spurted 2½ points, while the 6 percent preferred advanced a point.

Fractional improvement was the rule in motors, coppers, communications, aviation and amusements.

Mail orders, oils and rubbers lagged. Rails were quiet, except for a rise of a point in Norfolk &amp; Western.

The curb market developed a mixed trend although the general undertone continued firm and trading was light. Most price changes were minor.

Miss Velma Heineman
Weds Wilbur BurrowsLovely Ceremony Solemnized
Friday Evening At Beaver Falls Church

ELLWOOD CITY, June 6.—The Immanuel Evangelical church, Beaver Falls, was the scene of a lovely wedding on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock when Miss Velma Louise Heineman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Burrows, 418 Fountain avenue, this city, were united in holy wedlock.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. E. R. McClain in the presence of many relatives and friends, a number coming from Pittsburgh, Wilkesburg, New York, New Castle, Titusville, Evans City and this city.

The church was attractively decorated with palms and ferns interspersed with potted plants and lighted tapers cast a soft glow.

Mrs. E. H. Lindow of Wilkesburg, aunt of the bride, played a program of nuptial selections, and Miss Besie Burrows and Mrs. Clyde Gibson, Jr., sisters of the bridegroom, sang two appropriate selections, "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of white brocade and organza fashioned princess style with a short train and a sweetheart neckline edged with lace as were the long sleeves. Her finger tip veil of tulle fell from an arrangement of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations.

The bride wore a diamond lavalier which her mother wore at her wedding, and she also wore a gold bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Jean Heineman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and she was a becoming pink gown of brocade organza. She carried an army cluster of pink carnations and wore the same flowers in her hair.

Bridesmaids, Flora Heineman, another sister of the bride, and Evelyn Ortel, a cousin, appeared in gowns of blue brocade organza and carried yellow carnations.

Clyde Gibson, Jr., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man, and ushers were Paul J. Burrows, brother of the bridegroom, and Melvin W. Means.

A reception for 75 guests followed at the bride's home, with flowers and a large tiered wedding cake forming the attractive setting.

Mr. and Mrs. Burrows departed on a short trip to New York and Canada, with the bride wearing a navy blue costume suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride, a graduate of Beaver Falls High school and Geneva college with the class of 41, is a teacher in the Marion Hill school.

Mr. Burrows was graduated from the local high school with the class of '37, and is employed by the National Tube company.

After Tuesday, June 9, they will reside in a newly furnished apartment at 401 Jamison avenue, Ellwood City.

Japanese Soldier Superman Is Bunk

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, June 6.—The Japanese soldier is not a superman.

Neither does he go gloriously to death for his emperor.

He is no match for the American or British soldier.

He is a very ordinary little man, well trained, well equipped and well led, but with no special qualities which would bear out some of the stories which have gained currency here and in the United States that he is some sort of a pocket-sized military Colossus.

Authority for this debunking is a senior British military officer just returned from the bitter campaign in Burma, which saw the British gradually withdraw in the face of overwhelming Japanese opposition.

"It's entirely wrong to think that the Japanese soldier is more than a match for the white soldier," this officer told the writer today. "On equal terms wherever we have met in such conditions, it has always been the Japanese who have been defeated. He will continue to be defeated whenever he comes up against a white soldier who is as well armed as himself."

"My experience over many weeks of bitter fighting in Burma and elsewhere in the East proved conclusively that the Jap soldier is no super-man. He is a well trained and experienced fighter. He is tough and is often well led. He fights well when he has superiority in numbers and has overwhelmingly superior air support. But it is a different story when he is met on exactly even terms. And it will always be a different story."

Describing the Japanese soldier, the officer said the leading troops in every Japanese advance were lightly equipped, specially trained men who went ahead with no more than a rifle, 50 pounds of ammunition and a few handfuls of rice. He goes forward at amazing speed for around four or five days, but then he has to halt until his fellows can come up with him and attempt to consolidate. More often than not he takes a terrific whipping while he is thus exposed.

And he certainly doesn't go out of his way to meet death.

"He takes as much care of himself as any other human," the officer said. "About the only difference is that he doesn't like being captured, and sometimes will be killed rather than suffer capture. Our theory is that he believes that he might be killed or at least ostracized by his fellows if he goes back to Japan, after the war, as a returned prisoner."
